AUSTRIAN PINE

One of America's foremost authorities calls the Colorado Blue Spruce nature's highest effort to produce the beautiful. Here is a tree of majestic splendor. Picture, if you will, a tree of perfect shape, with abundance of foliage glistening in the sunlight like flashes of steel. You have seen trees laden with soft, white fluffy snow that resemble the beauty of the Colorado Blue Spruce. What a thrill you will experience to grow and develop these youngsters in your own yard.

The Mugo Pine is a mountain plant which has become adapted to home planting. Mugo Pines have been costly due to the expense of obtaining proper seeds in the earlier days. Around the base of the foundation, at the foot of the steps, next to the taller trees and along the pathways they present an object picture one can scarcely imagine. The new shoots of spring and early summer are alivery, like little glowing candies. Mugo Pines do not grow tall but spread out along the ground in the most artistic formation. Nooks and corners are made beautiful by Mugo Pines and at the price they are offered here you will readily find use for a great many.

The Norway Spruce is so well-known and so popular it hardly needs to be introduced or explained to the lover of nature. While it is more common than some others it nevertheless is beautiful. It is easily cultivated and cared for. Its deep rich color is needed among the plantings of other evergreens. It is nicely shaped and grows rapidly. The Norway Spruce adapts itself to every climate and most every soil. It withstands the rigors of all weather conditions and is truly a desirable tree for home planting.

The Austrian Pine (Pinus nigra) meaning "Black Pine" has two leaves in a sheath, straight and slender, from 4 to 5 inches long and of deep rich green color. The Austrian Pine is perhaps the heartiest of all the Evergreens. It withstands perfectly the smoke, gas and soot of large cities. It is easy to manage under almost every condition and rarely gives disappointment to those who plant it. It is one of the outstanding evergreens and one of the favorites for home grounds especially among other types of trees. With the other three trees here listed a more choice planting cannot be had.

HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR EVERGREENS

When these Evergreens reach you they will be carefully packed in damp moss. As soon as they arrive they should be planted or before the moss has an opportunity of drying. The hole for the tree should be amply large to allow the roots to be spread out fan shaped. The dirt should be replaced, a small amount at a time, and packed very hard around the roots. The soil as well as the hole should be kept well moist. When the soil has reached the ground level be sure that it is either level or sloping slightly toward the base of the tree. Water the trees heavily daily until well started. Twice a week allow the water to run freely through the leaves. This removes whatever dust may collect upon them. Plant them where they will get sunlight a part of the day at least.

NO YARD TOO SMALL— NO YARD TOO BIG FOR EVERGREENS

Evergreens are essential to the landscaping of every home. Winter and summer they remain green. There is no shedding of foliage or fading of color. The beauty of evergreens is perpetual. Around the home or scattered throughout an otherwise monotonous space of green lawn they have their place if beauty is desired. Small corners, at the edge of the walks, in rock gardens, etc., evergreens add a stately air of elegance. The offer of four outstanding evergreens is a remarkable value at $1. You may order as many collections as you wish.
